There will be no Lanyard in July.

Comanche Chapter OA Advisor
Scott Purdy spurdy@us.ibm.com

The Comanche Chapter officers are:

Chapter Chief, David White - Troop 168
1st Vice, Damien Jacot, Troop 168
2nd Vice, Scott Panther, Troop 937
3rd Vice, Steven Robbins - Troop 700
Secretary, Colby Edson, Troop 168

The chapter OA ceremony team did three pre-ordeal ceremonies and two ordeal ceremonies at the May Sid Richardson Ordeal. The team did very well. There were 51 new Ordeal members that went through our chapter's ceremony. We also had several members in the chapter complete their Brotherhood.

There are two Ordeals left to attend this year for those that couldn't be at the first two. The next one will be at Camp Tahuaya from August 1-3 and the last one will be at Worth Ranch from August 22-24. Our ceremony team will not be at Camp Tahuay, but will be doing ceremonies at Worth Ranch.

Those that aren't able to complete their Ordeal this year, will have to be re-elected next Spring. Registration forms that are required to attend an Ordeal (candidates, members and even ceremony teams) can be found on the Lodge website: <http://www.longhorncouncil.org/oa/>

The next OA meeting will be Thursday, June 5, at 7:30 PM. For all you new Ordeal members, and the current members who haven't been in a while, we meet upstairs next to the Boy Scout Round Table meeting. We will be having officer elections that night and need everyone to attend for the voting. There will also be time to nominate additional officers before the voting begins. Several members that were not present at the last meeting were nominated. I will not tell you who it was, you will have to show up at the next meeting to find out.

There will be leader training in July for the newly elected officers. The date is yet to be determined.

Conclave 2008 will be held at Baylor University from July 25-27. The cost is $50 if you register before July 7 and $60 afterwards. You will find the link on the Lodge website above.

Pirate Cove Cub Scout Day Camp

It's not too late to register for Pirate Cove Cub Scout Day Camp. Day Camp is June 16-20 at the Church @ the Cross (Memorial Baptist Church) located at 3000 Wm. D. Tate in Grapevine, TX 76051.

Camp will run from 8:30 to 3:30 Monday through Thursday, and 8:30 to 12:00 Noon on Friday. There will be a Pirate Cove carnival on Friday from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. Please plan to come have a picnic lunch with your scouts, and stay for our Pirate Cove Carnival. There will be games, fun prizes and a trading post.

All registrations must be done online. The registration fee is $80.00. The $10 late registration fee will be waived in until Wednesday, May 28. Register online at longhorncouncil.org.

Be sure to register each Cub Scout camper separately from their parent(s) who also may be coming to camp as a volunteer. Do not order adult t-shirts on the Cub Scout's registration.

Every adult volunteers needs to complete the online Youth Protection Training. The training is good for 2 years. So unless you did the training last year, you must take it this year. We must have your YPT certification for you to be onsite at camp. You can take the training at longhorncouncil.org.

All adult volunteers also must attend training each year. There are some new aspects to the training this year. Below is a list of training dates:

6:30 – 9:00 p.m.	Monday, June 2	Southlake Blvd. Presbyterian Church
9:00 – 11:30 a.m.	Saturday, June 7	Southlake Blvd. Presbyterian Church
6:30 – 9:00 p.m.	Tuesday, June 10	Southlake Blvd. Presbyterian Church
9:00 -11:30 a.m.	Saturday, June 14	Souhlake Blvd. Presbyterian Church

All camp paperwork needs to be turned in to the Day Camp Registrar, Kristy Odom, by Friday, May 30th!! Kristy's address is 3204 Park View Court, Colleyville, TX 76034 (in Woodland Hills...Glade West of 121...South on Martin Parkway...3rd street on right). You can contact Kristy to make arrangements to turn in paperwork: 817-571-5108 (Home) or 817-422-3170 (Cell)

JULY 24 EAGLE BOARDS OF REVIEW

Although there is no Roundtable held in July, there will be Eagle Boards of Review held on the 4th Thursday, July 24. Normally Eagle BOR paperwork is submitted the night of Roundtable. Deadline for submitting Eagle paperwork is still the 1st Thursday, July 3. Scouts wishing to schedule a July EBOR should contact Mike Llewellyn at home (81) 490-1736 or by email mike_llewellyn@yahoo.com.

AUGUST 28 EAGLE BOARDS OF REVIEW

Date for EBOR is Thursday, August 28. Submission deadline for Eagle Paperwork for August EBORs is Thursday, August 7, at District Roundtable. Scouts who are unable to turn in paperwork at that time should make alternate arrangements by contacting Mike Llewellyn at home (81) 490-1736 or by email mike_llewellyn@yahoo.com.

Scouts Wishing to request an EBOR in August should be mindful that Longhorn Council offices will be closed for 2 weeks, beginning Monday, July 7, and ending Friday, July 18. Scouts needing an appointment with Athena Holt, Eagle processor, should call in advance to schedule appointments before the closing. Scouts needing an appointment immediately after shutdown should call Athena before the shutdown begins. Contact Athena Holt at (817) 231-8500 #2 or by email Advance@longhorn.org.

Scheduled Upcoming Eagle Boards...

Thursday June 26, 2008

Required documents, including self-addressed stamped envelopes should be turned in to Mr. Llewellyn no later than the Roundtable meeting (1st Thursday of the month) of the month the scout is requesting his Eagle Board. Incomplete paperwork, or turning paperwork in after this date in most cases will result in the Eagle Board being set up for the next month.

Advancement Reminder ...

Scouts planning on having their Eagle Project approved or turning in their paperwork for their Eagle Board of Review will need to use the Revised Eagle Leadership Workbook, and Eagle Scout Application. See Dec 2007 Lanyard for the details. If you have questions about this policy contact the District Advancement Committee. The forms can be obtained from the District website at this link: http://www.lakeviewdistrict.org/eagle_adv.htm

POPCORN KERNEL RETREAT – Mark Your Calendars for August 9th!

The Longhorn Council's 2nd annual Popcorn Kernel Retreat will be Saturday morning, August 9, 2008 at the Hurst Longhorn Council office.

This is the opportunity to learn about the 2008 popcorn programs, what's new, what's different, and this year's incentive contests. The retreat is FREE and lunch is provided!

Yes, there will be new classes offered this year as well as the Trail's End Online Ordering computer class. There will be incentives for early registration.

A Scout Trailer Will Be Given Away Again This Year

Units attending last year's retreat gained valuable knowledge and insight and proved the retreat benefits through a significant increase in popcorn sales, program success, and fun. Because of this correlation between retreat attendance and unit success, the Longhorn Council is holding the drawing for the Scout Trailer on the day of the retreat (August 9) instead of at the end of popcorn season.

How To Get Your Unit in the Drawing For the Free Scout Trailer?

Send 2 representatives from your unit to the popcorn retreat.

Each representative needs to attend 3 of the classes at the retreat.

Then your unit will be entered in the drawing for the free scout trailer.

To get the maximum benefits from the retreat, council recommends 2 people attend from your unit (pack, troop, or crew). These can be the individuals that serve as unit popcorn kernel, committee chair, scout master, treasurer, or an assistant.

RSVP for the retreat to Renee Horton at bsarhorton@aol.com so the right amount of class supplies and lunch can be planned. Also, if you are coming to the retreat but not staying for lunch, let Renee know that also.

If you haven't identified your unit's popcorn kernel by now, then do so quickly so they can plan the retreat date in their summer schedule. Send the unit's popcorn kernel contact info to the district kernel at tmmbell@yahoo.com.

The Duffle Bag

By Larry Day

Mom sewed my duffle bag out of material left over from slip-covering our old couch — again. Back in 1950, the fabric's narrow brown and wider orange stripes looked all right on a couch stuffed into an alcove in our old, dark, high-ceilinged apartment in Idaho Falls.

It's pathetic that I didn't see the ridicule coming. I was a socially clueless, bucktoothed, pompadoured, 14-year-old dork who had just hit it lucky — I was going to the Boy Scouts of America National Jamboree in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. Nearly all our contingent, about 300 scouts, was composed of Latter-day Saints from the Upper Snake River Valley.

At first, going to the jamboree had seemed impossible. The 1950 national jamboree was to be the first one after World War II. Valley Forge was the symbolic and culturally perfect venue. I lived with my parents in an LDS ward that was four blocks wide and five blocks long. My sister was on a mission.

Rich people lived in our ward. At least I thought of them as rich — doctors, merchants, pharmacists, lawyers, government employees. My dad was a telephone company lineman. Mom was a housewife. We lived in an old five-unit brick apartment house that had been built before the city passed residential zoning laws.

All of the affluent scouts in my troop were going to the jamboree. The anticipation was palpable. It would involve a weeklong train trip across the northern states, a week in Valley Forge, and a return trip through the southern states back to Idaho. The trip cost $300. I didn't even tell my parents about the jamboree. I knew we didn't have the money.

One evening I came home from my paper route. Dad was reading the paper and Mom was fixing supper. I came in, threw my newspaper bag on the sofa and clumped into my room. When Mom called me to eat, I yelled that I wasn't hungry. She came to the door.

"What's the matter?"

"Nothing."

"What is it?"

"NOTHING."

"Tell me."

"Everyone in the troop except me is going to the Boy Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge this summer."

"How much will it cost?"

"Three hundred dollars."

Lakeview District News

"Oh."

"Yeah."

"Come eat your supper."

The next day when I came home from delivering papers, Mom said she had called Mr. Huffman, the circulation manager at the Post Register. I was his favorite carrier. I'd had a paper route since I was eleven.

"You have two hundred dollars in your trust fund," Mom said. The newspaper withheld a small amount from each carrier each week and put it in the trust fund. The carriers called it the "don't trust you fund," because it was designed to protect the company if a kid quit and skipped with the weekly collections. The carriers collected from the customers every week and turned the money in on Saturday morning.

"They won't let me have it until I quit."

"Mr. Huffman said you can withdraw all of it now for the jamboree."

"I'd still be a hundred dollars short."

"Grandma Hickman gave me a hundred dollars for emergencies. This is an emergency."

I spent the next three weeks in wonder and euphoria. The scouts who were going to the jamboree — not everyone in the troop was going — had developed a fellowship, and now I was included. The jamboree fee included two uniforms — shorts and shirt, neckerchief and belt, knee socks and a small back pack, all standard issue Boy Scouts of America stuff.

Each scout had to supply his own duffle bag. I didn't have a duffle bag and didn't think about the fact until two days before train time. I was over at a friend's house. He was packing his duffle bag. It was an official, khaki colored bag with the Boy Scouts of America logo on the side. I froze.

"How much did that cost?"

"Twelve dollars.

"Where did you get it?"

"At Pennys. We bought the last one."

I left him packing his duffle bag and stumbled across the street to our apartment.

"Mom, I don't have a duffle bag."

"We'll buy you one."

"They're all sold out.

"I'll make you one."

"Could you do that by day after tomorrow?"

"I think so."

before the first one made it back to camp.

The train was scheduled to leave Idaho Falls at 9:30 a.m. It was a fine June day. Our Boy Scout Region leaders had chartered a Union Pacific passenger train for the trip. It started up valley in St. Anthony or somewhere and stopped in Idaho Falls before heading for the great adventure.

I was joyful when Mom and Dad and I drove up to the depot in our black 1936 Plymouth. This would be my first trip outside Utah and Idaho. I hopped out of the car and ran to the train platform where other scouts in my troop were standing with their parents.

Mom called to me, "Don't forget your stuff."

"Oh, yeah."

I ran back to the car and I grabbed my striped sofa-fabric duffle bag, my backpack, and my accessory kit. Mom had made me an accessory kit with the same fabric. It had places to tuck in a toothbrush, toothpaste, a comb, and a bar of soap. It rolled up and snapped shut.

I still didn't have a clue what I was in for.

None of the boys said anything about my duffle bag until all the hugging, weeping moms and the hand-shaking, back-slapping dads were back on the platform. The train whistle blew and we began to move. My duffle bag was in an overhead rack with the other standard issue Boy Scouts of America duffle bags.

"Hey Larry, let us see the clown suit you've got in that gaudy bag," yelled Fred, the troop big shot. He and I had clashed a couple of times.

"Yeah," piped in his cohort. "Show us your clown suit."

Five or six guys began to chant, "Clown suit. Clown suit. Show us the clown suit." Others picked up the chant. Someone stood on a seat and pulled down my duffle bag. I wrestled it away from him. I wanted to jump off the moving train with it.

Then our scoutmaster came through the door from the other car.

"What's going on?"

Silence.

"Larry?"

"Nothing."

"Okay. Okay, guys. Listen up." He began to read us a bunch of rules and regulations. Then he reminded us about the fun stuff — Chicago and the Natural History Museum, Detroit and a baseball game at Tiger Stadium, New York City and the Empire State Building, Philadelphia and the Liberty Bell. Then we were on to Valley Forge and a week at the national jamboree.

"President Truman will be there," he said.

The scoutmaster went back to his car. I was glad that no one picked up the "clown suit" chant again because if they had, I might have jumped off the train at Pocatello.

I had a good time on the train trip, even though my duffle bag continued to attract jeers and jibes.

Our contingent was met in Philadelphia by a fleet of school buses that took us to Valley Forge. The camping equipment was loaded on trucks that led the convoy. We were told that our personal gear would follow.

We arrived after dark. The bus driver dropped our troop off at the assigned camp site in the middle of a grassy field. Tent poles, tent halves, ground tarps and sleeping bags were all stacked up in the middle of the compound. We set up our tents by moonlight. We were exhausted and ready for bed, but our personal gear hadn't arrived.

"Where's the truck with our stuff?" someone asked.

Just then our scoutmaster came back into camp.

We gathered round.

"There's been a mix-up," he said. "Our gear has been dumped over there some where." He pointed into the darkness. "Form up and we'll go look for it."

We followed him. We came to a huge mound of duffle bags — all standard issue Boy Scouts of America gear. Scouts from who-knows-where were digging through the pile, looking for their duffle bags..

"This is a mess," said our scoutmaster. "I'll stand by while you look for your duffle bags. When you find your bag, bring it to me. I have to confirm that it's yours. The other scoutmasters are doing the same. Then you can go back to camp and go to bed. We have a big day tomorrow."

I heard a collective groan from the boys around me as they walked toward the formidable mound of identical duffle bags. As I moved forward I saw, sticking out of the mound about halfway up, the brown and orange stripes of my humiliating duffle bag.

"There's my duffle bag," I yelled. No Christmas present ever looked as wonderful as that ugly homemade sofa-fabric duffle bag. I retrieved it and carried it to where the scoutmaster was standing. He smiled.

"No question about the ownership on that one," he said. "Congratulations. Go on back to camp and get to bed."

I don't know how long it took the other scouts in my troop to find their duffle bags because I was fast asleep

DISTRICT MERIT BADGE COLLEGE 2009

The dates selected (yet to be finalized) are Saturdays, January 10 and 24. Reed Meek is chairing the planning for Lakeview District Merit Badge College 2009; kickoff planning will begin in June. The format is expected to closely parallel that of recent years -- 3 class offerings in the morning hours. Please consider these dates when scheduling your Troop / Team /

Tentative location is the Colleyville Stake Center of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints ("Mormon") which will not charge the district for usage. The Colleyville Stake Center is located on McDonwell School Road [same as North Tarrant] about half a mile east of Precinct Line Road.

EAGLE PROJECT PRE-CERT APPOINTMENTS

Scouts who have completed the detailed written plan for their proposed Eagle project must obtain 4 approval signatures [see below ... EAGLE PROJECT SIGNATURES]. The 4th and final signature is obtained from a member of the District Advancement Committee who has reviewed the detailed written plan.

Scouts who have already obtained the first 3 signatures should then call Darrell Wahlen to schedule an appointment. CALLS TO REQUEST A PRE-CERT APPOINTMENT SHOULD BE MADE A WEEK IN ADVANCE OF THE DESIRED DATE. Scouts should not contact Mr Wahlen expecting him to be available the next day or two; Mr Wahlen is a pilot. Darrell Wahlen can be reached at 817-545-3429 or email: dwahlen2@tx.rr.com

EAGLE PROJECT BOARD OF REVIEW STAFFING

Eagle Scout Candidates are responsible for inviting 2 adults to attend their Eagle Boards of Review as Advocates. It is also suggested that the Scout inform one of his leaders to introduce him to the Eagle Board of Review members at the beginning of the BOR.

Units (preferably the Committee Chair) are responsible for recruiting a REGISTERED ADULT SCOUTER to serve on another Scout's Eagle BOR the same evening as each of their unit Scouts is scheduled for an Eagle BOR. Example: Troop 37 has 2 Scouts scheduled for Eagle BOR's in August; each Scout selects and invites 2 adults to be advocates and arranges for a leader to introduce him at the BOR; THE UNIT RECRUITS 2 OTHER ADULTS TO HELP STAFF THE BOR'S SCHEDULED THAT SAME EVENING.

EAGLE PROJECT SIGNATURES

There has been some confusion concerning signatures required for Eagle Scout Service Projects. Scouts have occasionally obtained signatures on various pieces of paper; the signatures should all appear on a single page of the project workbook -- approval signatures for the written plan on one page; and signatures verifying completion of the project all together on another page at the conclusion of the project. Also, the required signature for "Coach" or "Advisor" refers to the unit leader, not an individual who is an Eagle "coach" or "advisor". Unit leaders who may sign for project plan approval are Troop Scoutmaster, Varsity Team Coach, or Venture Crew Advisor

PRE-CERTIFICATION SIGNATURES: Before an Eagle Scout Project may be begun, the Eagle Scout candidate must obtain 4 signatures from individuals approving the written plan for the project. These signatures must come from:

- 1 Representative of the receiving organization (religious institution, school, or community)
- 2 Unit leader - the Troop Scoutmaster, Varsity Team Coach, or Venture Crew Advisor. [NOT Eagle Coach or Eagle Advisor]
- 3 Unit Committee Member (may be Chairman, Eagle coach/counselor, or other committee member)
- 4 District Advancement Committee Member (this final signature is obtained at the Pre-Cert meeting)

PROJECT COMPLETION SIGNATURES: There are 3 required signatures that must be obtained upon completion of an Eagle Scout service project. The signatures must be written on one page of the Eagle Scout project workbook (there have been problems in the past with the 3 original signatures being placed on different pages). These signatures must come from:

- 1 The Eagle Scout applicant
- 2 Unit leader - the Troop Scoutmaster, Varsity Team Coach, or Venture Crew Advisor. [NOT Eagle Coach or Eagle Advisor]
- 3 Representative of the receiving organization (religious institution, school, or community)

MERIT BADGE COUNSELOR REGISTRATION

Trustworthy persons age 18 and older may volunteer to become Merit Badge Counselors. Every individual desiring to become a Merit Badge Counselor must complete and submit 2 forms: an BSA Adult Application form (list code "42" and "Merit Badge Counselor" as position description); and a Merit Badge Counselor Information form. The forms must be completed in full -- which means all sections on the BSA Adult Application as well as explanation of why the candidate considers himself/herself qualified to counsel EACH Merit Badge listed. A "YES" in the box is not sufficient.

The completed forms are submitted to the District Advancement Chair at Roundtable (or delivered to her in some other venue) who must verify for completeness and eligibility. The District Advancement Chair then submits the verified forms to Council -- after providing contact info to a member of the District Advancement Committee who is responsible for maintaining a list of Lakeview District Merit Badge Counselors. The Lakeview District website will soon have a password protected listing of Merit Badge Counselors. Each unit will be provided with an ID number for accessing the list; units may determine what will be their unit password and who will have access to that information.

[FYI: Adults who are registered with a unit as a unit leader must fill out a separate BSA Adult Application form to become a Merit Badge Counselor (which is a Council level position) or to become a member of the District Committee (a District level position). A person who is a unit committee member, a Merit Badge Counselor, and a member of the District Committee must therefore fill out 3 separate BSA Adult Application forms. The charters for Lakeview District and Longhorn Council expire on May 31 each year. Adults who wish to continue serving at the District and/or Council levels need only indicate that they wish to continue when recharter times comes up ... PROVIDED that their original paperwork had been received and properly recorded.]
